

Clinical skills intensive training in dialogical practice

By Judith M. Brown PhD

NOVEMBER 4 – NOVEMBER 5, 2022 (FRIDAY & SATURDAY)

2 - DAY TRAINING SYDNEY

For practitioners, therapists, counsellors, clinicians who work with individuals, couples, families, wider systems.

A TRAINING FOR CLINICIANS BY CLINICIANS

*"There is a huge benefit in being a participant-observer...to learn to go back and forth between – or simultaneously be learning, observing but at the same time be fully present – was a marvelous thing to learn. And it's a marvelous way to live actually."
(Mary Catherine Bateson)*

A clinical practice intensive in dialogical practice: Building upon the introductory foundation training

This 2-day training offers a detailed focus on increasing clinical competence in Open Dialogue and dialogical practice. It builds upon the introductory training and is informed by dialogical and systemic theory and practice.

There is a particular focus on Core Elements including reflecting & other dialogical processes and Core Dialogue including the use of self. Training methods include ongoing reflection on the nuanced and sophisticated skills of dialogical practice.

Training involves a primary and intensive focus on skills practice in experiential exercises and role plays.

Introductory Course is a prerequisite (various versions)

Learning Goals

- To develop the core clinical skills which support the creation of a safe dialogical space, with a particular focus on speaking & listening.
- To gain a sense of the varied nuances of reflecting processes, with a particular focus on why, what, when, and how to reflect during sessions.
- To increase in attunement to the moment-to-moment quality of the therapeutic process.
- To gain an increased sense of the use of self, with a particular focus on relational embodiment.

CORE ELEMENTS

A particular focus on the link between core elements and clinical skills, which support the creation of a safe dialogical space. A particular focus on the influence of core elements upon the dialogical process.. Including experiential training, which highlights differing clinical contexts.

CORE DIALOGUE

A particular focus on the use of self in the dialogical process, as informed by 'ways of being' dialogical. A particular focus on dialogical moments in which new knowing may emerge. Including experiential training, which highlights differing clinical contexts.

TRAINING FEE

Early Bird: $585.00
before Sept 17, 2022

Regular: $640.00
after Sept 17, 2022

Includes morning and afternoon tea.

LOCATION:

Stanton Library, Miller
Street, North Sydney.
Parking available close to training venue. Morning & afternoon tea is provided. Venue is close to coffee shops for lunch.

TO REGISTER

Early registration is advised. Numbers are limited in this practice - oriented training, with a focus on clinical practice, reflection, and experiential learning.

CANCELLATION POLICY

Cancellation until 2 weeks prior to training entails a refund of 80% of fee. No refund of fees after this time due to venue and admin costs.

<https://www.judithbrownfamilytherapy.com/register>

JUDITH M. BROWN PhD

Judith is a Social Worker and Couple and Family Therapist in private practice. She has extensive experience working as a Senior Social Worker in a tertiary level child and adolescent mental health clinic. Since observing Open Dialogue in Finland in 2011, Judith has engaged with, taught and written on the dialogical approach to clinical practice and research. She is internationally trained to supervise & train clinicians in Open Dialogue & dialogical practice. She provides introductory, development and advanced trainings, dialogical family-of-origin groups, and individual and group supervision.

ENQUIRIES: WWW.JUDITHBROWNFAMILYTHERAPY.COM